The Nicene Creed Explained – Part 23

(By Evelyn Martins, Parish Catechetical Leader, Corpus Christi Parish)

Every week, together as pilgrims of hope, we explore parts of the Nicene Creed.

In our reflections on the statements in the Nicene Creed, we have now arrived at the penultimate statement: I look forward to the life of the world to come wherein we profess that we look forward to “the end of time [when] the Kingdom of God will come in its fullness” (CCC 1042).

Before the end of time, the following events will take place in this order: the Particular Judgement for each person at the moment of death, the Second Coming of Christ, the resurrection of the dead and the Last Judgement.

We will reflect on each of these dogmas in succession (except for the resurrection of the dead which was explored previously, in Parts 20-22.)

“God created man a rational being, conferring on him the dignity of a person who can initiate and control his own actions” (CCC 1730), that is, we have free will.

“By free will one shapes one’s own life” (CCC 1731).

God did not create us as puppets or robots that blindly follow his commands. He will never impose his will or his love upon us for love cannot be forced. He has given us the gift of free will – to freely choose to love and follow him, or not.

Only in freedom can man direct himself toward goodness.... For God has willed that man remain "under the control of his own decisions," so that he can seek his Creator spontaneously, and come freely to utter and blissful perfection through loyalty to Him.... Since man's freedom has been damaged by sin, only by the aid of God's grace can he bring such a relationship with God into full flower. (Paul VI, Gaudium et Spes, 17).

When we sin, we are making the free choice to be disobedient to God. “Sin is before all else an offense against God, a rupture of communion with him” (CCC 1440), “it is failure in genuine love for God and neighbour” (CCC 1849). Through the Sacrament of Reconciliation, God forgives our sins and reconciles us to him and the Church. Throughout our lifetime, our merciful God awaits us to approach him with a contrite heart in the confessional no matter how many times we sin against him.

The Particular Judgement

However, at the moment of our death, the time for choosing is over. There is no free will and no second chance after death. We will face judgement on the choices we have made during our lifetime.

We must all appear before the judgement seat of Christ, so that each one may receive good or evil, according to what he has done in the body.
(2 Corinthians 5:10)

At the moment of death, our immortal soul separates from our body and goes to meet Christ, to be judged. “It is appointed for men to die once, and after that comes judgement” (Hebrews 9:27).

Death puts an end to human life as the time open to either accepting or rejecting the divine grace manifested in Christ.... Each will be rewarded immediately after death in accordance with his works and faith (CCC 1021).

This judgement at the moment of our death is called the Particular Judgement as it is particular to each person. “Each of us shall give account of himself to God” (Romans 14:12). The Particular Judgement determines the destination of each person for all eternity.

Each man receives his eternal retribution in his immortal soul at the very moment of his death, in a particular judgement that refers his life to Christ: either entrance into the blessedness of heaven – through a purification or immediately, – or immediate and everlasting damnation (CCC 1022).

At the Particular Judgement, our life will be referred to Christ's life. His life will be the standard to which our life will be compared, not to the good or evil life of anyone else but to the self-less life of Christ. We will be judged based on whether our choices in our life – through our thoughts, words and actions – imitated Christ's life. Did we show love towards God, obedience to his Commandments and love towards our neighbour?

There are only two outcomes from the Particular Judgement:

1) Reward of eternal life in heaven:

Those who die in God's grace and friendship and are perfectly purified [enter Heaven immediately and] live for ever with Christ. (CCC 1023)

All who die in God's grace and friendship, but still imperfectly purified, are indeed assured of their eternal salvation; but after death they undergo purification [in Purgatory], so as to achieve the holiness necessary to enter the joy of heaven (CCC 1030). Or

2) Eternal separation from God in hell:

Hell consists in the eternal damnation of those who die in mortal sin through their own free choice (Compendium of the Catholic Church 212).

Jesus “desires all men to be saved and to come to the knowledge of the truth” (1 Timothy 2:4). But “we cannot be united with God unless we freely choose to love him” (CCC 1033).

Since however we know not the day nor the hour [of our death], on Our Lord's advice we must be constantly vigilant so that, having finished the course of our earthly life, we may merit to enter into the marriage feast with Him and to be numbered among the blessed (Paul VI, Lumen Gentium, 48).

How we use our free will to make moral choices here on earth determines our eternal destiny after we die. During our lifetime, we must endeavour to follow the Great Commandment – to love God with all our heart, with all our soul and with all our mind; and to love our neighbour as ourself.

“At the evening of life, we shall be judged on our love”

Saint John of the Cross, Dichos, 64

In our next three articles, we will reflect on what Heaven, Purgatory and Hell are.

- ▶ What will I do during Advent so that others can see the light of Jesus in me?
- ▶ In what ways can I be a peacemaker in my family, my workplace, or my community?
- ▶ How can I make time each day to connect with God, even in this busy season?

ON THE LITURGICAL CALENDAR

The feast days of the Church are not just the commemoration of historical events; they also look to the present and the future, and give us an insight into our own relationship with God.

The month of November is dedicated to the Souls in Purgatory.

In December, the Church call us to focus on the Immaculate Conception

Nov. 30 – Saint Andrew, Apostle, Missionary in Asia Minor and Greece, and possibly areas in modern Russia and Poland, martyred on a saltire (x-shaped) cross, patron of many countries including: Austria, Barbados, Germany, Scotland, Spain and the Ukraine

Dec. 2 – GIVING TUESDAY – a global movement for giving and volunteering

This opening of the giving season, reminds people that there is more to holidays than consumerism and commercialization. Charities, companies and individuals join together to share commitments, rally for favorite causes, and think about others with gifts of time, goods and voice.

Dec. 3 – International Day of Persons with Disabilities

Dec. 3 – Saint Francis Xavier, Jesuit Priest, one of the founding Jesuits, and the first Jesuit missionary, Apostle to the Far East

Dec. 4 – Saint John Damascene, Priest, Doctor of the Church for Christian Art, last of the Greek Fathers, defended the use of icons, wrote poetry and hymns, the first compendium of Christian theology, works defending the orthodox faith and commentaries, such an excellent speaker he was known as Chrysorroas (“golden-stream”), adapted choral music for use in the liturgy

Dec. 6 – National Day of Remembrance and Action on Violence Against Women (in remembrance of the 14 young women assassinated at the Ecole Polytechnique de Montreal, Dec. 6, 1989)

Dec. 6 – Saint Nicholas of Myra, Bishop, Generous to the poor, and special protector of the innocent and wronged, many stories grew up around him prior to his becoming associated with Santa Claus.
