Stewardship: Our Response to God's Generosity

Next weekend, Father Stephen will ask the parish to reflect on Christian Stewardship — how each of us, as disciples of Jesus, is called to use our time, talents, and treasures for God's mission in our community.

Stewardship isn't simply about giving; it's about gratitude – recognizing that everything we have is a gift from God and asking how we can use those gifts in thanksgiving for His glory. Let us pray this week with hearts of gratitude and openness:

"Lord, all that I have is yours. Show me how to serve you with a generous heart."

The Nicene Creed Explained – Part 17

(By Evelyn Martins, Parish Catechetical Leader, Corpus Christi Parish)

Every week, together as pilgrims of hope, we explore parts of the Nicene Creed.

We continue our reflections on the first statement of the fourth section of the Creed, in which we profess: I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church

In our previous article, we discussed why we profess that the Church is holy. In this article, we will reflect on the third mark of the Church: The Church is catholic.

It is necessary to differentiate the adjective “catholic” (with lowercase ‘c’) used in the Nicene Creed from the noun “Catholic” (with uppercase ‘C’), which is the proper name for the Church Christ instituted.

The word “catholic” comes from the Greek katholikos which means “universal” or “in keeping with the whole”.

The Catechism gives us two reasons why the Church is catholic, or universal:

First, the Church is catholic because Christ is present in her... In her subsists the fullness of Christ's body united with its head; this implies that she receives from him the fullness of the means of salvation which he has willed: correct and complete confession of faith, full sacramental life, and ordained ministry in apostolic succession (CCC 830).

Secondly, the Church is catholic because she has been sent out by Christ on a mission to the whole of the human race (CCC 831).

Before Jesus ascended into Heaven, he spoke these words, often referred to as the Great Commission, to his Apostles:

“Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, to the close of the age” (Matthew 28:19-20).

Through these words, Jesus commissioned his Apostles to spread the Gospel to all nations, teaching them all that he taught them. It is only through the Catholic Church that this is accomplished, as explained in the Catechism above (CCC 830 and 831) and in the Compendium below:

The Church proclaims the fullness and the totality of the faith; she bears and administers the fullness of the means of salvation; she is sent out by Christ on a mission to the whole of the human race. (Compendium of the Catholic Church 166)

Since the Catholic Church contains the full deposit of faith and proclaims it to all people, it is a dogma of our faith that “all salvation comes from Christ the Head through the Church which is his Body” (CCC 846).

Although the Church endeavours to preach the Good News to all people, it is natural to be concerned about the salvation of those who have not heard about Jesus. Responding to this concern, the Catechism tells us:

Those who, through no fault of their own, do not know the Gospel of Christ or his Church, but who nevertheless seek God with a sincere heart, and, moved by grace, try in their actions to do his will as they know it through the dictates of their conscience – those too may achieve eternal salvation (CCC 847).

Note that the Catechism says that such people “may” achieve eternal salvation. Salvation is not guaranteed to those who are unaware or lack knowledge of the Catholic faith. Neither is Baptism a guarantee of salvation.

Even though incorporated into the Church, one who does not however persevere in charity is not saved (CCC 837).

All the Church's children should remember that their exalted status is to be attributed not to their own merits but to the special grace of Christ. If they fail moreover to respond to that grace in thought, word and deed, not only shall they not be saved but they will be the more severely judged (Pope Paul VI, Lumen Gentium 14).

Jesus is very clear when he says, “I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father, but by me” (John 14:6).

Whosoever, therefore, knowing that the Catholic Church was made necessary by Christ, would refuse to enter or to remain in it, could not be saved (Pope Paul VI, Lumen Gentium 14).

Ultimately, the judgement of salvation of each soul belongs solely to God, who is both just and merciful. We are called to place our trust in Jesus who embodied compassion and mercy towards sinners, notably to the crucified thief who showed repentance at his dying moment, saying to him, “Today you will be with me in Paradise” (Luke 23:43).

As Catholics, we have the incredible gift of encountering Jesus and receiving grace through the Sacraments. Knowing that this is a direct access to salvation, we should avail ourselves frequently of the Sacraments of Reconciliation and Holy Communion, and strive to live lives of holiness.

We are called to live our faith, not out of fear of God, but out of love for him, who created us, loves us and desires a personal relationship with each of us. His words spoken the Prophet Jeremiah are also spoken to each of our hearts: “Before I formed you in the womb I knew you” (Jeremiah 1:5), “I have loved you with an everlasting love; therefore I have continued my faithfulness to you” (Jeremiah 31:3).

Christ's sacrifice on the Cross was a redemption for the whole human race. His death and resurrection bring salvation to those who cooperate with his act of redemption.

God wills the salvation of everyone through the knowledge of the truth. Salvation is found in the truth... The Church, to whom this truth has been entrusted, must go out to meet [peoples'] desire, so as to bring them the truth. Because she believes in God's universal plan of salvation, the Church must be missionary (CCC 851).

By virtue of our Baptism, we are all called to be missionaries – in our home, our workplace and society – to evangelize and spread the Gospel message to ensure the salvation of all.

The witness of a Christian life is the first and irreplaceable form of mission: Christ, whose mission we continue, is the “witness” par excellence and the model of all Christian witness... Everyone in the Church, striving to imitate the Divine Master, can and must bear this kind of witness; in many cases it is the only possible way of being a missionary (John Paul II, Redemptoris Missio, 42).

There is a third way to understand the word “catholic”. The Church is also catholic, universal, because everyone, irrespective of race, culture or social status is welcome into the Church. The Catholic Church surpasses all cultural, racial, political and national boundaries, encompassing all people from every geographic area and time in history. Enter into a Catholic church anywhere in the world and you will see people from all walks of life – rich or poor, local or foreigner, varied ethnicities – all worshipping God, kneeling in adoration before him and receiving the Sacraments as each one recognizes the need for God to fill the longing of their soul. In every Catholic church, there is a level playing field – everyone is equal before Christ the King.

In fact, everyone belongs in the Catholic Church. “All men are called to be part of this catholic unity of the people of God... the whole of mankind, for all men are called by the grace of God to salvation” (Pope Paul VI, Lumen Gentium 13).

Therefore, we must not be complacent or comfortable in our spiritual lives, but rather be resolutely determined to follow Christ, to bring our loved ones back into the Church and to further its mission.

For each believer, as for the entire Church, the missionary task must remain foremost, for it concerns the eternal destiny of humanity and corresponds to God's mysterious and merciful plan (John Paul II, Redemptoris Missio, 86).

This is the third mark of the Church: The Church is catholic.

We continue to examine the Papal Bull “Spes Non Confundit”

A Papal (or Pontifical) “Bull of Indiction” is an official document, usually written in Latin, published by the Pope to proclaim a Jubilee Year. The Papal Bull for this Jubilee Year of Hope, translated into English, can be found here:

www.vatican.va/content/francesco/en/bulls/documents/20240509

It is worthwhile reading this document to reflect on the Holy Father's theme of hope for this year.

Each week, we select a few sentences from each paragraph in the Bull as inspirational reflections to help us live this Jubilee Year of Hope.

Some excerpts from Paragraph 23:

- The [Jubilee] indulgence is a way of discovering the unlimited nature of God's mercy.
- The Sacrament of Reconciliation is not only a magnificent spiritual gift, but also a decisive, essential and fundamental step on our journey of faith. Let us not neglect Confession, but rediscover the beauty of this Sacrament of healing and joy, the beauty of God's forgiveness of our sins!
- Still, as we know from personal experience, every sin “leaves its mark”. In our humanity, weak and attracted by evil, certain residual effects of sin remain. There are removed by the indulgence, always by the grace of Christ.
- This experience of full forgiveness cannot fail to open our hearts and minds to the need to forgive others in turn. Forgiveness does not change the past...yet it can allow us to change the future and to live different lives, free of anger, animosity and vindictiveness.

ON THE LITURGICAL CALENDAR

The feast days of the Church are not just the commemoration of historical events; they also look to the present and the future, and give us an insight into our own relationship with God.

Oct. 11 – Maternity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, honors Mary as Mother of God, and bears the same sort of relation to the Annunciation and to Christmas as does the Synaxis of Our Lady in the Byzantine rite. - Christ is real, he lived and died. In Christ, God was fully united with us as a man, and his sacrificial death saves us. The Eucharist is the flesh of Christ and cup is his blood through which we are all united since those who receive the Eucharist will share in the bodily resurrection.

Oct. 18 – Saint Luke, (-c. 71), evangelist, one of the earliest converts to Christianity. Physician.
